A NEW VISION

“I’m extremely excited about seeing the girls wearing their new uniform in all the various styles available to them. I know that they will really embrace options that are comfortable, stylish and offer individual choice.”

Cheryl Penberthy
Principal

I am very proud to present the College’s exciting new academic uniform collection. After extensive research and discussion with our PLC Family and a leading professional designer, we are delighted with the style, quality and functionality of the new uniform.

It reflects the needs of students in today’s world whilst honouring our heritage and the legacy of PLC uniforms. Our much-loved school colours feature extensively and our Scottish heritage is reflected in an evolution of the College tartan.

Our students are at the very heart of our school community. This uniform reflects the way in which we respect our students and their future whilst also empowering them in their own presentation.

This new uniform has therefore been designed to reflect the busy and varied lifestyles of young people. It empowers their individual choice in what they want to wear and how they wish to wear it.

I look forward to this new wardrobe coming to life as we see our students proudly and happily wearing their uniform as they represent PLC and our wider College community.

THE JOURNEY

Our new uniform collection represents the culmination of years of careful planning and many hundreds of hours of thoughtful discussion. Engaging a uniform designer who understood the needs of students from the Early Learning Centre through to the Senior School in today's changing environment was paramount. As was identifying a uniform provider who could realise those designs in a comfortable, stylish and sustainable way.

Our Uniform Committee, comprising students, parents, staff and alumnae, ensured voices from across our community would inform the developmental process. Student representatives shared their thoughts and insights to help shape the new collection and ensure that it meets their needs and those of future generations of PLC students.

We would like to thank everyone involved who have helped achieve such a wonderful result.

COLLABORATION

“I really enjoyed the experience of being involved in the process for the new school uniform. The uniform has a modern fit and feel, while still reflecting PLC’s traditions and colours. I can’t wait to see how we all look wearing these fantastic uniforms in the years to come.

Lauren, Year 10

“Being a part of the process for the new school uniform has been a truly amazing experience. I am very proud to have been involved. By sharing our vision for how the new uniform should look, function and feel, we have helped shape how future students will proudly wear this fantastic new PLC uniform. It reflects the growth of our school as it adapts from the old uniform into a newer, cohesive look.”

Ovindee, Year 8

“I have really enjoyed being part of such a special moment in PLC’s history. It has been really cool to see how the uniform has changed and evolved over the years and I can’t wait to see what is next for the college!”

Chloe Year 7

“I loved the joy that the girls experienced in developing their new uniform. They were so proud to share their ideas and excited that we were listening to what they had to say.”

Cheryl Penberthy
Principal

“New uniforms are a significant commitment for families. The Uniform Committee incorporated fabrics and materials that were durable and easy to care for. I am really looking forward to seeing the girls in clothing that is modern, stylish and comfortable.”

INSPIRATION

INNOVATIVE DESIGN

Leading Australian uniform designer, Jonathan Ward, has produced a contemporary wardrobe approach that is practical, comfortable and offers students personal choice for their individual daily requirements.

The collection celebrates the College's wonderful heritage that embodies an evolution to PLC's signature checks, weaves and colours, whilst accommodating the new uniform's distinctive new items and style.

The new PLC uniform's most defining characteristic is individual student choice. The new uniform has been designed to be fully transeasonal, no longer a summer and winter uniform but rather, to be worn all year round.

It features a range of compulsory items as well as an extensive range of optional clothing items and accessories to complement each students' individual preferences, style and personal comfort.

“It’s about the history and tradition of the school and incorporating fabrics and weaves that are state-of-the-art affordable and will remain relevant for the next 30 years.”
